HOUSTON, TEXAS. February 11, 1899.

Dr. W. I. Seymour, Houston, Texas.

Dear Doctor—You are perfectly well-come to refer to me during your stay in our city, and I assure you I will do all in my power to further your excellent work. It is a pleasure to me to recommend the ability of one whom I believe to be justly deserving.

I can speak from experience, as the glasses you have made for me have done wonders in relieving my headaches and it can now read with perfect ease, which was impossible with any glasses I have ever used before coming to you. I shall be pleased to meet anyone which you refer to me, as I feel that there are many others who can be benefited by your skill who hesitate on calling upon you, because you are a stranger. Yours very respectfully, MRS. B. S. RYAN, 1211 Capitol Avenue.

HOUSTON, TEXAS, February 17, 1899.
Dr. W. I. Seymour, Capitol Hotel, City.
Dear Doctor—It has been with some hesitation that I have decided to allow my name to appear in print, but I feel that I have no longer a right to keep from anyone else who is in trouble the knowledge of your wonderful skill. I am an oldidady and my sight is everything in this world to me. I have spent a great deal of money and have been to numerous opticlans, who have tried in vain to fit me with glasses. In fact, I was utterly discouraged when I came to you and my friends laughed at me and told me that

The straightening of Cross Eyes by this method alone is a new feature to people in this country, and it is quite natural that those who still advocate the old method should try to pick flaws in this system. I do not make these assertions without having the means of proving everything that I have said regarding the straightening of cross eyes with glasses, and the references given here below should be sufficient for the most skeptical. I have a hundred patients to whom I could refer, but strange as it may seem, many people dislike to have their names appear in print, and it is only those who feel it their duty to help others in this way who have come forward with a willingness to be referred to, and thus allow the skeptical to judge for themselves as to what has been accomplished.

You are at liberty to call at the residence of any of these people and they will gladly show you the child whose eyes have been straightened and allow you to remove the glasses and see what a benefit they are, and right here I wish to set some people right on a point which does not seem to be generally understood. Don't come to me thinking I will straighten the eyes by the use of glasses and that the glasses can be removed in a week or so, leaving the eyes perfectly straight. This is absurd, and any one who has investigated the matter knows that even in straightening eyes by the old method that glasses were also necessary. Glasses straighten the eyes and hold them so, restoring perfect sight to the poor eye, as all cross-eyed people have one eye which is poorer than the other, and which they will lose the sight of if glasses are not worn to aid the failing vision.

Don't be dissuaded from investigating this matter, as you may lose the only opportunity that you will ever have to get this done, without a surgical operation. With every pair of glasses I make for this work I give the patient a prescription and a record which will enable them to replace these lenses at any future time. It does not cost you one cent to learn the possibility of having the eyes straightened by this method, and all results can be positively guaranteed. The expense, which should not be a matter of importance, but seems to hinder many, is much. less than having the work done by an operation would be, although the time and skill required is very much greater. Operations bring a big fee and are very simple, and therefore naturally more popular with all surgeons, who still cing to the idea that it is the right way.
